

COMPROMISE PLAN ON PACT RECEIVES ANOTHER SETBACK

Irreconcilables Will Move Monday to Kill Treaty

NO STATEMENT FROM WILSON

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 6.—The move to bring President Wilson actively into the peace treaty compromise negotiations got such a setback at the white house today that the irreconcilable super opponents of ratification again pronounced the treaty dead and gave notice that they would move Monday to bring the debate speedily to an end.

Officials close to the president declared that Democratic renators already were fully advised of the attitude of the executive and that compromise proposals should be addressed, not to Mr. Wilson but to Senator Lodge and then to Massachusetts the Republican leader in the senate. It was not revealed whether the president would grant the requested conference with Senator Simmons of North Carolina representing the senate Democrats in a final effort at compromise, but it was intimated that further efforts to inquire the president's views would be superfluous. The development caused un concealed disappointment among the Republican and Democratic senators working for an eleventh hour compromise but it did not put a stop to their negotiations. Some on both sides openly declared the only course left was to go ahead with the effort at agreement and then a ratification were accomplished, let the president decide afterward whether he would accept or reject it.

Among the irreconcilables, it confidently was asserted that no agreement ever could be reached on such an uncertain basis. The notice of their intention to force final action was given in the senate by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who said he would move Monday to take up at once the knotty problem of Article Ten which had been put over in the hope that a compromise might be assured, while the senate worked its way through the long list of collateral reservations.

Senator Borah's proposal at once was endorsed by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska the Democratic leader who said he and his colleagues were ready to vote "at an early date" and that it was "unnecessary" to seek the views of the president before taking final action.

Six reservations besides that relating to Article Ten remain to be disposed of, the senate having acted during the day on the seventh of the list of fourteen adopted last November.

The reservation voted on which that exempting the United States from paying expenses of the league of nations without congressional action and it was re-adopted 46 to 25.

In discussing the request for a conference between the president and Senator Simmons, white house officials pointed out that Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, recently had talked with Mr. Wilson who on that occasion, they said made clear his views on Article Ten. Later in the day, however, Senator Glass, denied on the senate floor that he had gone to the white house as an emissary of Democratic senators while many of his colleagues asserted privately that they had not received from him any report that they considered final or definite as to what the president would accept as a compromise.

Senator Glass, declined to say publicly what the president had told him regarding the treaty, but other senators are understood from their knowledge of the conference to have taken the impression that Mr. Wilson would not accept the treaty if it were ratified with the article ten reservation, drawn up but never agreed to in the bi-partisan conference.

That reservation had declared unacceptable to the Republican leaders however, and it is asserted that the proposal on which the president's judgment was desired had been brought forward since by Senator Glass.

In the negotiations as they now stand still other elements are involved and the Democratic senators are divided in their opinions as to whether language now under consideration would be found acceptable at the white house. A number of conferences among the Democratic leaders was arranged for tonight and tomorrow and although no one took an optimistic view of the prospect, some senators on both sides of the chamber thought there still was a chance of ratification.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MISSING INVENTOR

CHICAGO, March 6.—Police of Chicago and Detroit cooperated today to solve the disappearance of Angelus J. Casten, chemist of the International Harvester company and inventor of a depth bomb propulsive used by the United States during the war to combat German submarines. Casten is believed to have disappeared at Detroit, where on Wednesday night he mailed a postal to his fiancée, Miss Mabel Nielsen of Chicago, stating he was well and would leave for Washington that night.

Nothing was learned concerning the identification company of America, which notified Miss Nielsen that Casten had been accidentally killed by a train and that his body was found beside Michigan Central Railroad tracks a few miles from Detroit. The coroner at Detroit said no death had been reported to his office.

ATTEMPTS BY DEFENSE TO SECURE RELEASE OF BERGDOLL FAILS

Trial Judge Outlines Govern- ment's Case Against Rich Philadelphian

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 6.—Lieutenant Col. Cresson, trial judge advocate in outlining the government's case against Grover Cleveland Bergdall, wealthy young Philadelphian, now before court martial on Governor's Island for evading the draft today declared the sole issue is whether the accused is guilty "of that most despicable crime of deserting his country in time of war." The question of Bergdall's health, mental or physical and whether or not any attempts had been made to corrupt officials in his case, he added have nothing to do with the issue.

The government will produce documentary evidence, backed by testimony of individuals, to show that Bergdall not only failed to report for military duty when ordered and was legally inducted into the army, but "ran away" with the necessary intent to desert, Col. Cresson stated.

Bergdall's counsel clearly indicated the probable line of defense. Harry Weinberger of counsel for the accused, moved that the court dismiss the case against Bergdall on the government's statement of its program. He declared Lieutenant Col. Cresson had shown that there was no evidence to prove that sufficient notice had been given Bergdall by local board for division 33, Philadelphia, to make him a soldier.

Government failure to comply with the draft regulations was charged continuously by Weinberger. Every step of the prosecution was fought with objection after objection put forward on alleged failure of the government to observe technical details of notifications and recording. The court invariably overruled these objections.

Bergdall's registration card was put in evidence, although Weinberger refused to admit the signature on it to be Bergdall's. The card showed the defendant on June 5, 1917, to be single, without dependents of any kind, and making no claim for exemption from the draft on the grounds of physical or mental disability.

The defense cross questioned the members of the army medical board which examined Bergdall last month and pronounced him sane. All stated they believed him normal and acceptable physically and mentally as a soldier.

CONGRATULATES CZECH PRESIDENT

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Wilson today "cabled Dr. Masaryk, president of Czechoslovakia, congratulations on his seventieth birthday anniversary tomorrow, a national holiday in Czechoslovakia.

"On this anniversary of your birth," President Wilson said, "I offer to you my warm felicitations and best wishes at the same time congratulating the people of Czechoslovakia on the good fortune that has placed the administration of their affairs in the hands of one whose broad minded tolerance and scrupulously fair treatment of minorities are contributing so largely to the well being of Czechoslovakia into a stable nation."

WOULD MAKE U. S. GREATEST NAVAL POWER IN WORLD

Daniels Lays Three Programs Before
Committee

ONE THREE YEAR PROGRAM

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 6.—Three provisional naval programs dependent on senate action on the peace treaty were laid before the house naval committee today by Secretary Daniels. If the senate ratified the treaty and became a member of the league of nations, Mr. Daniels said he would recommend new construction only to round out the fleet now built or building; if the senate rejected the treaty and the United States definitely decided not to join the league he said he would urge duplication of the three year program of 1916, with some modifications with a view of making the fleet "incomparably" the greatest in the world.

In case the senate took no final action on the treaty the secretary said he would present a 69 ship program for construction as rapidly as possible in order that the United States might not lose ground in competitive naval building.

Secretary Daniels told the committee it must choose between these three proposals. The 69 ship program, he said, would cost about $195,000,000. He did not give any estimate of the cost of a new three year program.

Declaring that aircraft would never make battleships obsolete the secretary added that aviation was "essentially an integral part of the fleet."

Civil aviation should be entirely divorced from the military and naval branches, he said, and advocated early passage of legislation regulating by federal agencies private aerial navigation. Civil aviation should be encouraged, he declared, but should not be developed by a great expenditure of the public funds. Instead in the last three years, he said, the navy had expended ten dreadnaughts and six battle cruisers but he added that he would ask appropriations for the first year for only two battleships and one battle cruiser for prompt construction with large construction of cruisers and auxiliary vessels while the secretary's recommendations should be the senate ratify the treaty and become a league member would include no capital craft.

START CAMPAIGN TO STABILIZE PRICES

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 6.—A campaign was begun today among building material men to stabilize prices on all materials used in home building for at least six months. A plea was made for stabilization of wages. Only by such means could the housing problem be solved, said Edward Hines, head of a lumber company who announced the movement.

I am sending out circulars to all my trade," Mr. Hines said, "notifying them that the price of lumber will go no higher for six months, possibly a year. All lumber will be sold from now on at the present price level."

CRANBERRY BEANS ARE MISREPRESENTED

(By The Associated Press)
Springfield, Ill., March 6.—United States Marshal V. Y. Dallman has seized 1814 cases of cranberry beans on fifteen libel suits filed under the food and drugs act by U. S. District Attorney Kneitel, the suits alleging that the confiscated beans have been mislabeled "kidney beans." Seizures were made in Springfield, Quincy, Bloomington, Decatur, Beardstown, Clinton, Peoria and Rock Island. Cranberry beans are wholesome as food but are small in size and of less market value than kidney beans.

POLITICIANS MEET AT SPRINGFIELD MAY 10

(By The Associated Press)
Springfield, Ill., March 6.—The capital city of Illinois will be the scene of Republican and Democratic politicians May 10. State conventions of the two parties will be held here that day, the Republicans meeting in the state arsenal and the Democrats in the house of representatives.

SALE OF RED CROSS SEALS LARGE

(By The Associated Press)
New York, March 6.—Sale of Red Cross seal stamps in this country in 1919 totalled $4,200,000, according to reports received today at headquarters of the National Tuberculosis Association. This is more than double the last previous sale in 1917.

Condensed Telegraphic News

(By The Associated Press)
QUINCY, Ill., March 6.—Unable to find a vacant house after weeks of search, a family here inserted an ad in today's newspapers offering a reward for the "information leading to the location of a suitable dwelling." It was said by local publishers this is the first time such an ad has appeared in the local newspapers and is the result of the acute shortage of houses.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—A remonstrance to the supreme council by Russians of every shade of political faith, protesting against any concessions to the bolsheviks was made public today at the Russian embassy.

STOCKHOLM, March 6.—The labor conflict affecting 120,000 iron workers, employees of wood factories, mechanics, wood-workers and plumbers has been settled by mediation and work will be resumed as soon as possible. The employers received a guarantee of efficient work during the eight hour day granted the men. Wages were advanced slightly.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., March 6.—George Meredith, said by the police to be wanted in Illinois for embezzling $20,000 from an Illinois railroad was arrested here today. He is being held awaiting extradition to Lake County, Illinois.

Meredith is the son of a wealthy resident of this city. Police have been hunting him for four years.

CHICAGO, March 6.—Employees of the Chicago post office, 3,500 in number have called a meeting for Monday to protest against a 240 reduction in their salaries under the Blain bill, recently passed by congress, which eliminates the bonus paid during war time.

All those affected by the bonus cut receive salaries of less than $2,000.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE URGES U. S. TO BUY ALL LIQUOR STOCKS

Statement Issued at National Headquarters of Dry Or- ganization

(By The Associated Press)
WESTERVILLE, Ohio, March 6.—Purchase by the federal government of all liquor stocks in bond is urged by the Anti-Saloon league in a statement issued today at the league's national headquarters by Ernest H. Ciering, secretary of the league's executive committee. The statement says:

"With over sixty million gallons of whiskey in bonded warehouses there is a constant temptation to devise ways and means of getting that liquor in spite of the law. Moreover, so long as that whiskey is in existence those who even if they do its great commercial value, expect for prohibition, will be constantly tempted to use millions of dollars in efforts to repeal and break down the prohibition laws. The government of the United States should purchase that whiskey at a price to be fixed by a federal commission which price should represent the actual cost of producing it. Upon purchase of the whiskey the government should convert it promptly into denatured alcohol, for which there is an ever increasing demand."

HOUSE DISCUSSES AIRCRAFT REPORT

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 6.—After four hours discussion of American aviation efforts during the war the house sitting on a report to the whole house that it had passed a resolution on the conflicting reports of the special investigating committee made after prolonged inquiry into the war program and its program.

Even this announcement by the committee the whole did not pass unchallenged. Republicans and Democrats disagreeing as sharply as they had during debate on the investigating committee reports. The disposition made, however, was true to the disposition of Republican leaders. Their spokesmen during the debate declared the only purpose was to make known the facts of the war time aviation "failure."

DIES FROM "FURIES"

Rock Island, Ill., March 6.—Mrs. J. Albert Stombs, 59 years old, a chambermaid at the New Harper House hotel in this city, fell down the hotel elevator shaft, a distance of four stories this afternoon, sustaining injuries from which she died an hour later at the St. Anthony hospital. The elevator operator failed to stop level with the floor, and in attempting to adjust it, allowed the car to shoot up four or five feet, allowing the woman, who had already started to step in to fall thru unprotected opening.

TROLLEY SERVICE TIED UP

Troy, N. Y., March 6.—All city and interurban trolley service is tied up not a car having moved before noon. Only a few steam trains managed to reach this city today, some of these being hauled by two locomotives. Twelve foot snow drifts are reported in some places.

GERMANY'S FUTURE OUTLINED BY COUNT VON BERNSTORFF

Declares Empire Must Take Up Where

DIPLOMACY MUST BE USED

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, March 6.—German diplomacy must "take up the struggle at that point where President Wilson permitted it to slip away from him," said Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador at Washington, at a mass meeting of university students in a discussion of the nation's foreign policies.

Count von Bernstorff declared the president had merely touched upon the problem of negotiating a just peace but failed to solve it, after being first to assert that the war was not to end in the creation of a new balance of power.

"For us the question is: does the Versailles peace represent the fast and cruel orgy of a by-gone era," the former ambassador continued, "or are we to experience new imperialistic catastrophes whether the new diplomacy asserts itself or the old methods prevail?"

Count von Bernstorff warned against any attempt to achieve a revision of the treaty thru negotiations with individual entente powers.

Discussing the league of nations von Bernstorff said that Germany should not be to be received into it, which would be undignified, but must indicate thru her diplomacy and her attitude that she was willing to join. Touching on current occurrences in Washington the former ambassador warned his auditors against misinterpreting developments there.

"American interest is now centered in the presidential election," he said, "rather than in European affairs, which is accounted for in the disappointment of the war occasioned in the United States."

He further asserted that any attempt on the part of Germany to approve the present American attitude toward the league would merely fortify the entente against Germany.

ALLIES DISPATCH DRASTIC NOTE TO TURK GOVERNMENT

Terms of Communication are Not Yet Made Public
by Council

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, March 6.—The allies dispatched a note to the Turkish government today. The terms of the communication were not disclosed but it is understood they are drastic and will be followed by drastic action, should the necessity arise.

Premier Lloyd George announced in the British house of commons Thursday that the massacres of Armenians in Cilicia had been the subject of very anxious consideration at recent conferences of allied representatives and that the conference had reached a decision which had been communicated to the allied commissions at Constantinople. The character of the decision was not made public.

The protection of minorities in Cilicia was in charge of the French, Mr. Lloyd George said, and all the allies were prepared to give the French whatever support might be within their power.

DECLARES JEWISH MOTHERS ARE BEST

Dr. Saleeby Declares the Best
Mothers in London's East Side are the Jewish Mothers.

(By The Associated Press)
London.—The best mothers in London's East Side, the poor district, are Jewish, in the opinion of Dr. C. W. Saleeby, Chairman of the National Birth-rate Commission, as expressed in an address at the University College. Dr. Saleeby added that Irish mothers were not a bad second, and that the English ranked as a very bad third.

He explained that in the case of the Jewish and Irish mother this was a direct result of race ethics. Breast feeding was virtually universal among them, and there was a minimum of that dreaded disease arising from infant mortality was not really a medical problem, but a social problem of motherhood and a question of morals.

During his address Dr. Saleeby quoted figures showing that despite bad housing, bad sanitation, no child welfare efforts, infantile mortality in Western Ireland was only about 25 per thousand, as compared with 175 in 1,000 in Bradford, England which has the best equipment for infant welfare in the world.

JAPAN WILL KEEP TROOPS IN SIBERIA

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Announcement that Japan proposes to withdraw her troops from Siberia appears to have been at least premature in the light of despatches from Tokyo which indicate that the whole subject is under discussion in the diet. Meantime the government is retaining from any change in its program which contemplates the maintenance of a considerable force in Eastern Siberia and the retention of strategic railways.

The situation at Vladivostok, where the local soviet government is trying to establish relations with the Moscow government, is believed to threaten complications inasmuch as the foreign military could be maintained in the city only by some form of recognition of the local officials. Such recognition is unlikely to be extended by Japanese in advance of a general agreement to that effect among the entente powers, it was said.

CAMPAIGN MANAGER FOR NEWBERRY SPENDS DAY ON WITNESS STAND

Explains Why Report of Expenditures and Receipts
Were Incomplete

(By The Associated Press)
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 6.—Why the Blair report of Newberry senatorial primary campaign receipts and expenses was incomplete was discussed on the witness stand today in the elections conspiracy trial by Paul King, campaign manager. He told of the orders he had given that every outstanding obligation of the committee be included in the document filed with the state on September 6, 1918, and then of the strenuous but futile efforts of his subordinates to meet that order.

"The morning of September 6, when I reached the office I found the report still incomplete," said King. "Frank B. Emery had been told to get it up and I was informed that he had worked all the preceding night, finally fainting from exhaustion at 4 o'clock in the morning and being sent home in a taxi cab."

"I then took hold of the situation and found the records in a rather chaotic state. Hannibal Hopkins, director of publicity, had been writing, telegraphing and telephoning for bills for newspaper advertising and we thought we had them all in. We did the very best we could with the report and made an honest effort to have it complete."

"When Frank W. Blair, treasurer of the committee came to sign the report I told him I thought it was complete. He then attached his signature to the affidavit."

King related that he did not know just when additional claims began to come in. He said he went on a vacation the next day, then was called to New York, for nearly two weeks on another business affair and was able to give no further attention to Newberry political interests until around the middle of October.

King also related that Samuel Odell, former state treasurer, first suggested that James W. Helme be run in the Democratic primary to keep the mass of organization Democrats from voting for Henry Ford in the Republican primary. This relation restored to the record testimony which was technically wiped out when Odell was freed from the conspiracy indictment by court action March 3.

King said he had almost nothing to do with financing the Newberry campaign, relating that when the first proposal to manage it was made to him he was told that business friends and associates of Truman H. Newberry would furnish the funds. He got one check for $1,000, but took the donor to see Treasurer Blair and handed no other contributions.

The campaign manager identified several hundred letters exchanged between him and the then Commander Newberry and was still under direct examination when court adjourned until Monday.

REFUSES TO ALLOW NAME ON BALLOT

NEW YORK, March 6.—William G. McAdoo, again made plain his intention not to permit his name to be entered on presidential preferential ballots when he sent a telegram today to B. F. Ewing, chairman of the democratic state committee of California, requesting that he be kept out of the California primary.

Mr. McAdoo reiterated this statement he recently made to Georgia democrats that he favored the sending of uninstructed delegates to the national convention.

CHICAGO EXPRESS CLERKS TIE UP ALL SHIPMENTS

$35 Month Increase in Wages Demanded
by Workers

FORCE EMBARGO ON SHIPMENTS

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 6.—An embargo was placed against all express shipments except newspapers and funeral equipment to day by the American Railway Express company following the strike of "insurgent railway express clerks," who demanded an increase in wages of $35 a month. The strikers, led by Mr. R. H. Shoppard, chairman of the Chicago and Western Lakes Division of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, is without the sanction of international officers. More than 2,500 men responded to the strike call, Mr. Shoppard said.

District Attorney Clyne today began an investigation of the walkout to determine whether it was a violation of the new transportation act. If evidence was wanted, he indicated the first test of the new law would be made.

John R. Abbott, vice-president of the grand lodge who came to Chicago last night with Grover C. Milam, a member of the board of directors, in an effort to avert the strike, declared the office of district chairman, held by Mr. Shoppard, vacant, and appointed R. L. Gunderman to the position.

The striking expressmen, Shoppard said, voted to secede from the national organization for the formation of a new union, the Chicago Express and Freight Handlers Union.

The strikers were denounced by A. Hollister, president of the Order of Railway Expressmen who issued a warning to his men not to join the walkout. He branded the Shoppard uprising as a "direct violation of the transportation act recently passed by congress."

Shoppard asserted tonight that 2,000 teamsters and chauffeurs would join the strikers tomorrow, demanding wage increases also.

FURTHER CENSUS FIGURES GIVEN OUT

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Population announcements of 1920 issued by the census bureau tonight were:

Toledo, Ohio, 243,109, an increase of 74,612, or 44.3 per cent over 1910.

Charlotte, N. C., 46,318, an increase of 12,304, or 26.2 per cent over 1910.

The population of Charlotte, N. C., increased 50 per cent during the ten years from 1900. Toledo showed an increase of 2 per cent in the same time. Charlotte is the first North Carolina city whose population has tripled. Toledo is the Ohio city, the other being Cincinnati, which showed an increase 1910 of 10.3 per cent. Lima, whose increase was 3 per cent.

POISON OLIVE RELISH FOUND

Lincoln, Neb., March 6.—Three cases of deviled olive relish bottles said to be of the same, that caused botulism poisoning in Richmond, Calif., have been traced to a wholesale concern, Beatrice, Neb., according to telegram to the state pure food bureau today.

State food inspectors were out today to prevent any shipment from reaching consumers.

THE PUBLISHERS NEED TO CO-OPERATE.
It is no wonder that the publishers of southern Illinois have formed an organization to cooperate in the endeavor to secure newsprint. The situation is constantly growing more acute and many of the smaller publishers have already been forced out of business. Still others are on the verge of business disaster.

They are either unable to secure newsprint or if they get a quotation the price is almost prohibitive. Certain it is, unless some relief can be found shortly there are many Illinois newspapers that will come to grief.

SLOW IN PRESENTING BILLS

A comparatively short time ago a great many people were most earnestly wishing for the city to pay them the amounts owned on approved bills. In some instances there was a real clamor for this very thing. Now it appears that a number of holders of approved bills have failed to present them and the city cannot close the record of these accounts. It is this unusual condition that has resulted in city officials inserting an advertisement earnestly requesting the holders of approved bills to immediately file them with the clerk's office for payment.

It isn't often that a municipality is required to make so many requests for the filing of claims against it.

THE LAW ABIDING CITIZEN.

Some people are very reluctant about having their houses placarded even when some contagious disease exists there. In the eyes of the Illinois department of health the display of such a warning card is a badge of good citizenship. If only the public could be made to understand the wisdom of such placards there would be less objection to them. A card tacked on the front of a residence means that law has been observed and the absence of a card under such conditions is not only defiance of law but really approaches criminal carelessness.

It is not because citizens want to do wrong and to defy the law that there is neglect about these placards, but because they sometimes fail to understand the danger of contagion.

"IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN IT'S YOURS"

A speaker addressing a Jacksonville audience a few days ago laid much stress on the point "It's not your town, but you" that's at fault, if fault there is. It is to the man who criticizes the short comings of others or of the community in which he resides the phrase is especially applicable. There are many things, possibly in every community which might be bettered, many questions in municipal affairs which might be settled more satisfactorily if the authorities had the where withal to accomplish the work. Many things in our own lines of business, which we would have otherwise, but neither the municipality or the individual can bring about a change or improvement by sitting around grumbling about conditions. "It's not your town, but you" means that it is your duty to make the best of every problem that faces you in the conduct of your business or that of the city in which you make your home.

When you belittle the town, without making an honest effort for improvement by co-operating with other residents whose interests are largely the same as yours "It's you" that are at fault. You injure your own cause by railing at others who are endeavoring to work out a solution of the problems. When you decri the work of some as "politicians" and as men "interested" in some project for the welfare of the community, unless you have some better solution of the question and are willing to work with others, to make that known and to aid in carrying your plans to conclusion, to meet with and advise with others, unless you are willing to do your part, openly and honestly, "It's you" and not the people who are willing to give of their time and money who are at fault.

Our city is now showing to the world a splendid example of what can be accomplished by co-operation, by a spirit of helpfulness and faith in their own, and by the readiness of the people and their officials elect to advise with each other, not only in public affairs but in questions of any kind that may be mutually beneficial.

Possibly you may have escaped by aloofness but there are few business men of the city who have not felt a different atmosphere from that prevailing in former years. Almost every man reports business in his own line as encouraging, but is free to say there is only one "fly" that in some cases it is difficult to get goods to fill orders or in lines where he might profitably expand his business.

A man interested in the building trades recently remarked that in his years of business there has never been such a prospect as is now in sight in the building line for the coming year. Many have been stunned almost by the cost of building, but begin to see that the people must be housed it is almost impossible to find a vacant house in the city, while the demands are many.

The people of Jacksonville, have decided to reform, indeed a majority have already become converted to the idea that a city is just what its citizens make it. In other words "It's not your town, but you." The crop of knucklers is being materially lessened every day.

A FITTING MEMORIAL PLAN.

The movement that the members of the Service Star Legion have inaugurated to plant trees along the driveway about Mauvaisterre Lake in memory of soldiers of the late war is worthy of approval. The same idea has been followed out in a number of cities with very satisfactory results, this method of honoring the memory of heroes appealing to the public as a most appropriate one—a plan which will endure.

"Victory Drive" is the significant name chosen and with the passing of some months the members of the legion will have perfected their plans and the trees will be growing to commemorate the self-sacrifice and deeds of valor.

Mrs. Frank Elliott some months ago expressed her interest in such a memorial plan, particularly after having seen a number of such memorials in the east. At the beautiful village of Woodstock, Vt., this impressive memorial plan has been adopted and while there Mr. and Mrs. Elliott viewed the trees and the bronze tablet by the side of each bearing memorial inscriptions. In each case the tablet was about 8 by 10 inches in size and the wording from one of these will serve as an example of the plan which the Woodstock citizens carried out so effectively. It reads:

In Appreciation of the Sacrifice of Sergt. Ora E. Paul
L. Co., 39th Regt.,
4th Division, U. S. A.

Who gave his life in the battle of the Argonne
France, Sept. 27, 1918
The people of Woodstock dedicate this tree in his memory.

As already suggested there is something peculiarly appropriate about a memorial of this type for a tree of the proper kind will endure thru many decades and grow constantly more beautiful. As it grows and the people gather from time to time beneath its sheltering branches, generation after generation will be reminded of their debt to the heroes of the World War.

Rippling Rhymes
By Walt Mason

Great Times

Oh, these are grand and gorgeous times, and every fellow has the dimes! I work four hours and draw more pay than father pulled down for a day, and he was doing things at dawn, and busy till the light was gone. But father, like a lot of dads, somehow arranged to save some seads; he always paid up what he owed, and had a package safely stowed where he could reach it on the day when bleak misfortune came his way. I often wonder how our dads, those provident, hard-working lads, could, from the meagre wage they drew, save dimes, the way they used to do. Oh, many troubles I have earned, and many troubles I have burned; I blow in more to buy a tire than was my daddy's monthly hire; I wear silk shirts and calfskin shoes, and dodge the tailor with his dues, and when I see the grocer's face I feel that I am in disgrace. And if the panic seems worse should come, alone and land on me, I wonder what will happen then, since I have never saved a yen? Such doubts as these swing through my head, sometimes when I am snug in bed; then chills go up and down my spine, and sad and sleepless hours are mine.

Traveling Men Take Lively Interest in Membership Contest.

After enjoying a burgoo supper the Jacksonville Council No. 182 met in the council room for a special session.

There was a large attendance and much interest and enthusiasm was shown in the membership drive and contest in which the U. C. T. of Illinois and Iowa are engaged. The following new members were taken in: A. J. Cox, W. P. Laborance, W. H. McCarthy, Jr., W. R. Beck, F. L. Ledford, and J. H. Wenkin.

After the business meeting a smoker was enjoyed. The next regular meeting will be held March 20th at which time officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Mr. Carr, senior Counselor of the Hannibal Council was a visitor.

THE LIFE SERVICE CONFERENCE

The Life Service Conference, which was held at the Illinois Woman's College on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 2 and 3 was one of a series of such conferences which are being held in the various colleges and universities of the United States, as a part of the Interchurch World Movement.

Dr. Victor W. Thrall, whose particular interest is foreign missions, and Dr. Arlo A. Brown, whose work is especially religious education, composed the Life Service Team at the local conference. Classes were rearranged so as to give longer time for the chapel services and for the special luncheons. Aside from these meetings, the days were filled with personal conferences on Life Service. The addresses emphasized the qualifications for leadership in the various lines of work, the need for trained people of all types, and the reasonable and at the same time idealistic methods employed.

The students could not but respond to the straight forward, rational presentation of facts, and to the expert knowledge put at their disposal. At the close of the conference, it was felt that the results could not by any means be tabulated, for the train of thought thus started, and the impulses thus set on work, are certain to result in an ever growing Christian outlook as well as in an increasing number of decisions for Life Service.

SERVICE STAR LEGION

At the Public Library building on Friday afternoon, March 5, the regular monthly meeting of the Service Star Legion was held with a splendid attendance, and five new members.

The Chapter felt very much gratified at having Mrs. Kate H. Hollinger, member of Park board present, who introduced Mr. Liplady, horticulturist and landscape gardener for the state. Mr. Liplady gave a most instructive and comprehensive talk concerning the White Elm which we have chosen as our tree to plant along Victory drive at Mauvaisterre Lake.

The membership was so pleased with Mr. Tiplady's sincere interest in the War Mothers purpose of making this a memorial drive for our boys who were in the service, and those who lost their lives in the world war. That they unanimously extended him the chairmanship and asked him to be responsible for selecting and planting our Victory trees. Mr. Tiplady readily agreed to the plan. The Chapter then gave him a rising vote of thanks.

Mrs. Hollinger then congratulated our Chapter in securing the services and cooperation of Mr. Tiplady in a most complimentary way, telling of what inestimable value his services have been to the city park board. The regular meeting and business was then taken up and a most interesting meeting followed.

Frances E. Brown, Secretary

Peter Gaines, from west of Woodson, was a visitor in Jacksonville, Saturday.

"Please Get Married"

They were on their honeymoon. "Now that we're married, Dear," said he, "lets spoon a little." "All right, Lovekins," said she. Then they learned they were not married at all... SHOCKING!!!

Cupid had his fingers crossed. Somebody put a jinx on their honeymoon! They couldn't even kiss in secret! Their lips met — then parted—the hotel clerk was peeking and the honeymoon was spoiled.

Metro's adaptation of the hilarious stage success of James Cullen and Lewis Allen Browne, as produced by Oliver Morosco. Directed in seven sparkling acts by John Ince.

THURSDAY

CONSTANCE BINNEY

—IN—

"THE STOLEN KISS"

A sympathetic story of a girl's heart breaking struggles to make love and life what she has dreamed them to be. She desires only the simplest form of freedom, but finds herself edged about by the stern, sometimes cruel, restrictions of a "utopian" environment. Her happiness is in "make believe" and she persists, her spirit unbroken, through seventeen resisting years. Then even insistent Fate fires of placing obstacles in her way, and she bursts out of the shadows into a glorious land of peace and sunshine and happiness!

OLDEST FAMILY IN U. S. ORIGIN- ALLY FROM JACKSONVILLE

The Salt Lake (Utah) Tribune recently contained an extended article together with a number of photographs illustrating a family well known in Jacksonville. The incidents related are grouped around the life of John Alves, eighty years of age and now living in Salt Lake City. He is a retired farmer and stockman who served in the Civil War and was resident here many years ago.

One brother, Manuel Alves, lives on a farm just west of the county home, together with his daughter, Miss Mary and his son Benjamin. Another son is John Alves living on Sandusky street in this city.

Ell Alves of West Walnut street is a nephew of the Salt Lake City veteran and there are other members of the Alves family also resident here. The article from the western paper is as follows:

The following story appeared in the Salt Lake Tribune of Salt Lake City, Utah, recently:

Eighty years old and the baby of a family of five, all of whom are living, is the unusual position of which John Alves, 462 South First West street, retired stockman and Civil War veteran finds himself. He attended the G. A. R. convention held in October at Columbus, Ohio, and while east visited his family, some of whom he had not seen for sixty years.

The Alves family is probably the oldest family in the United States. The eldest sister, Mrs. Mary A. Smith, 214 North Fourteenth street, Springfield, Ill., is 108 years of age; the next is Manuel Alves, an active farmer living about five miles from Jacksonville, Ill., who is 96; Mrs. J. Figueroa, 1030 Green avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., 87 is the next sister; then comes J. J. Alves, 83 years of age, of Farmingdale, Ill. The average age of the family is ninety years.

Mrs. Smith who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Kate Franks, has five children living, the oldest of whom is 81 years of age and the youngest 64 years of age. She has also twenty-seven grandchildren, fifty great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren. Mrs. Smith is the only one of the Alves family who is not active, and she has been confined to her bed for about two years.

J. A. WEEKS

Arenzville, Ill.

She misses her wife, since prohibition went into effect, according to her brother. "She thinks old people ought to have a little stimulant," he said.

"When I went east," the baby of the family said, "I did not tell any of my family that I was coming. My niece, Mrs. M. Kniffing, daughter of my sister who lives in Brooklyn, went with me. We went to the convention and then on to New York. We went to the home of my sister and they did not know us. I guess they thought we were peddlers because we had our suitcases and they would hardly let us in, until I grabbed my niece and kissed her and then the niece who was with me said: 'Why, this is Uncle John.'"

"Chicago Looked Different. We stayed in Chicago a little while and I thought how different the city looked from the time I saw it in 1849. When I went to the bedside of my sister Mary, she raised her eyes full of tears and said: 'Thank God, my prayers are answered and I see my baby brother once again before I die.' I had not seen her for sixty years, and it was fifty-three years since I had seen any of the others.

"I have nieces and nephews, grand nieces and great-grand nieces and great-grand nephews that I did not know I had and that I had never even heard of. I did not find many people that I knew in the early days of Springfield." The Alves family are of Portuguese descent and were born in the Island of Madeira, coming to the United States in 1847. The trip was made on a sailing vessel.

"We stayed in New York for four months," Mr. Alves said, "and then went on the first steamship I had ever seen to Rochester, N. Y. We then went the canal boats as far as Buffalo, N. Y. We went from Buffalo on a lake steamer to Chicago, which was a town of about eight or nine thousand, I think, then. We went on a canal boat then to Lockport, and down the Illinois river to Naples.

Came to Jacksonville

"We took the train there and went to Jacksonville, Ill. Some of the party went to Springfield, which was the capital. This was the first and only railroad in Illinois at that time and was the beginning of the Wabash railroad.

"It was a funny little train. We rode on open flat cars and sat on our baggage. The tracks were wooden beams 6 by 18 inches with strips of iron nailed along the middle of them, and these beams were laid on the ties as the steel rails are now laid. The train did not go very fast. I think about eight or ten miles an hour. The cowcatcher, I remember, look like a rake turned upside down, and if any cows had been caught their ribs would have been stuck with the points.

"The line ran from Naples to Springfield a distance of about fifty-six miles, and for quite a while that was the only railroad system they had. It struck me funny as I rode thru that country on fine steam trains, so well equipped, when I thought of the last time I had gone over Illinois in that flat car train.

First View of Lincoln

"The first time I saw Abraham Lincoln was when he came to Jacksonville in 1856 stumbling for John C. Fremont, who was running for president on the Republican ticket. There was a parade and Fremont rode at the head on a 'curley horse'. In those days the wild horse were curly sometimes when they got wet and as a real curly horse could not be found for Fremont, they made one by putting some sheepskins over the horse. A long trail of Indians rode single file behind in the parade.

"Lincoln gave a fine speech that night in the town hall. The next time I saw him was in 1858, when he came to Jacksonville again on a debating tour of the state with Stephen Douglas. I remember that there was a great deal of feeling about the debates and, of course, we all wanted Lincoln to win. We thought he had the right idea about the slavery question.

"Courtied Girl at Lincoln Home. I next saw him in Springfield when he was a candidate for president himself in 1860. At that time I was about 21 years of age and was courting a young girl named Mary DeFrates, who was governess and seamstress in the Lincoln home. Lincoln was very Democratic and Mary entertained me in the living room. The house had four rooms and a kitchen on the ground floor and some bedrooms upstairs. Mary took care of the two little boys, Todd and Robert. I used to talk to Lincoln sometimes when I went to the house and he was always pleasant. I was pretty bashful then and did not try to get much acquainted with Mrs. Lincoln. I had seen her and knew her before she was married to Lincoln, when she was Mary Todd.

"The last time I saw the great-hearted man was when he was lying on his death bed in state at the capitol, in 1865.

"Has Fine War Record. Six days after the first shot was fired on Fort Sumpter I enlisted in the Union army in a company. Fourteenth Illinois Infantry. That was April 20, 1861. On May 25, 1861, we were mustered into the service and saw our first fighting when we went after General Price of the confederate army in Mississippi. In February, 1862, I was at Fort Donaldson on the Cumberland river, under Grant. This was the first great victory of the Union army. We captured 17,000 prisoners.

"I was hit five times in the battle of Shiloh but not one of the bullets drew blood. One was stopped by the buckle of my belt, another by a shield I wore on my chest, another by a copy of the testament which I carried in my vest pocket, and one just grazed the skin on the top of my head. That was some fight.

"I next took part in the siege of Corinth on the Mississippi river. It took just twenty-five days to go twenty-five miles, and we were moving on the town, and when we got there we found that the birds had flown. None of the soldiers or inhabitants were there. 'I was with General Grant when the supply base was raided at Holts Springs and then we had to eat corn out of the fields for a number of days. At the Battle of Vicksburg I was slightly wounded again. After three years of my enlistment was up and I was discharged and mustered out at Springfield on June 24th, 1864.

Went West in 1865

"In the fall of 1865 I came west to Nebraska City and went up into Montana. I came to Utah in 1866. For several months I traded in and around Salt Lake, with horses, harness and different things. I camped down on the side of the city and county building and lived with some friends on First South street.

"The only two hotels at that time were the Townsend House and the Salt Lake Hotel. In January, 1867, I went to Fillmore and stayed there trading lumber and stock until 1882 and came back to Salt Lake and I have been here ever since. I never went east after that time until last rail.

"When I returned to Springfield and saw all the old places I had frequented my heart was filled with emotion. I saw the flag we had at the battle of Shiloh, ridden with bullets, and the new flag we got which are preserved in the museum at Memorial Hall. Later I went to the home of Lincoln where I had known and courted Mary.

Met Author of Lincoln Play

"The old house looked much the same as when I saw it sixty years ago when the Lincolns were living there. I could shut my eyes and see the family as they sat around the fire place. As I stood thinking of old times I overheard some men talking about the fire place and how the house had been heated. They were standing near a radiator below the mantelpiece where there had been a fire place the last time I had entered that room. The house is in care of Mrs. Mary Edwards Brown, a grandniece of Mrs. Lincoln. She contended that the room had been heated by a stove with a chimney going into the fireplace. Now I distinctly remembered that Mr. Lincoln used the fire place and burned wood in it. All the rest of the house had been heated with stoves. I spoke up and told them so, and found out that one of the strangers was a famous English poet by the name of John Drinkwater and the author of the play called 'Abraham Lincoln' and that the fire place had played an important place in the setting of the play.

"Mr. Drinkwater took my arm and we made a tour of the other rooms together and I pictured them for him as they were in the days of Lincoln. He seemed to enjoy it quite a little and when the hour came for his departure he asked me to write my name on the visitors' book beside his. I was so filled with emotion at the thoughts of the early days that I lived in Springfield that I was unable to hold the pen, and he wrote my name for me, and there they stood on the books together, John Drinkwater, Birmingham, England, and John Alves, Salt Lake, in his writing. He then wrote in parenthesis, ('Written by me at Mr. Alves' request — aged 80.')

RETURNS FROM CHICAGO

Judge M. T. Layman is now in Jacksonville and expects to again become a resident. Mrs. Layman will be here in the course of a few weeks. Judge Layman will have offices on the fourth floor of the Ayers National Bank building.

PROBATE COURT

In the estate of Cornelia Sanders, the final report was approved.

Mrs. John G. Reynolds and Miss Ruth Reynolds, have returned from a week's visit with friends in Chicago.

Deaths

Post

Elmon Post died Saturday at a local hospital. The deceased was about forty five years of age and was known to a number of people in this community. The remains were taken to the Reynolds mortuary and will be sent to Canton where interment will take place.

Henderson.

Martha Henderson, aged five months, of Cantrell, died at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Henderson, 808 West Lafayette avenue at 1:30 o'clock this (Sunday) morning. She is survived by her parents and one brother. Burial will be in Arcadia cemetery, but the time of the funeral is not known.

Seegar.

Word has been received here of the death of Walter Scott Seegar, which occurred February 11, at Lawton, Okla.

Mr. Seegar's death was caused by pneumonia. He formerly lived at Jacksonville, but at the time of his death his home was at Deatur, Ill. He was employed at D. Faite's Implement

His many friends here will be sorry to hear of his death. He is survived by his wife and one son, Joseph; also by his father, James W. Seegar; three brothers, John W., Arthur L., Fred, and one sister, Mrs. Walter F. Hardy.

Allen.

The death of Mrs. Charles Allen occurred Saturday afternoon at about 3 o'clock at her home north of Sinclair. Death came as the result of an attack of pneumonia following influenza, and the final illness of the deceased covered only a brief period.

The deceased is survived by her husband and five small children. The family home was formerly in Missouri and it was in that state that Mrs. Allen was born and reared. For the past eight months the family has been living on the farm of N. T. Fox in the Sinclair neighborhood. The deceased was a devoted wife and mother and her death means a great loss to the home circle.

No arrangements for the funeral have yet been made and will be announced at a later date.

H. G. Lynn left Saturday for Woodman, Colorado, to enter the M. W. A. Sanatorium. He is threatened with a tubercular trouble but is expecting speedy improvement in the Colorado climate.

WHEN THEY PLAYED FOR FUN

Forty-Year-Ago Ball Teams Got Little Money for Their Work.

Al Spink in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

What a nice, fat thing your professional baseball player of today has compared with that which the player enjoyed before the professional game was put on a real business basis.

Even in 1880, or less than forty years ago, the players had a wonderfully hard row to hoe, and very few of them were paid for their playing.

There was only one professional league in existence at that time, and the players in it were not paid the gilt-edge salaries that are given even the poorest players of today.

For the best accommodations were things, too, that the professionals of that early day had to put up with.

Players not members of the National League in that far-off day gave their time and service simply for the sentiment that went with the sport and fun affixed.

I recall one team, the Akrons of Akron, Ohio, who came all the way from Akron to St. Louis to play the Browns in 1881.

There were some great players on that Akron team, notably Sam Wise, who later played at second on Boston's champion league team; Swartwood, the hard-hitting fielder, who was later with Pittsburgh; Charley Morton, who is still in the game; Andy Pierce and many other cracker-jacks.

They made the long and dusty ride from Akron in the day coaches. Not one of them had the price of a sleeper. They arrived in St. Louis all covered with smoke and grime and dust, for traveling was dustier and rougher in those days than it is now.

For their pains the Akron boys were given four days' board at a cheap hotel in St. Louis and a bus ride to and from the baseball grounds.

But, at that, they were a happy-go-lucky, well-satisfied lot, who thought of nothing but cavorting on the field and having a good time.

The St. Louis Reds of the early '70s were a better team than the Akrons. Tom Sullivan was their catcher and Jim Galvin their pitcher, and in their playing ranks were cracker-jacks like Packie Dillon, Tom Oran, Tom Loftus, Trick McSorley and John T. Magner. The top salary on the Reds was $60 a month.

ODORS NATURE'S DANGER SIGNS

Animals Determine Edibility of Herbs by Sense of Smell.

George F. Burba in the Columbus Dispatch.

Perfumes, or odors, were intended for something else besides affording pleasure for human beings. They are as useful in the outdoor world as anything else, and everything is of some use; otherwise it wouldn't exist.

The flowers are more odorous than anything else; they furnish the perfume for the out-of-doors; they are the things which we generally refer to when talking of pleasant odors—although the perfume of some flowers is not pleasant to some people.

The blossom or flower is the forerunner of the fruit or seed of plants, as a general proposition. It is necessary that the insects and flies and bugs and bees visit the blossoms to carry the pollen from one to another. The pollen is the floury stuff, like golden dust, frequently, that you see in the blossoms. This pollen is the very life of the fruit or seeds, and it must be mixed with the pollen of other blossoms or there will be no seeds.

So the blossoms are odorous to attract the bugs and bees and insects that are to carry the pollen from one plant to another. That also is the object of many of the colors; that is the reason the blossoms of the plants and flowers are colored, in fact—to attract the attention of the little creatures that are to serve them in the matter of distributing the pollen.

But there is an odor to nearly everything out of doors—to other things than the blossoms. Even the grasses are odorous, and the leaves and the bark of the plants. Each growing thing, in fact, has its peculiar odor.

These odors act as "safety first" notices for the wild things. The wild things learn their meaning. The deer knows from the odor of a bunch of growing vegetation whether it is fit for food—and so does everything else that lives upon vegetation. The wild creatures go more by scents, or the odor of plants, than they do by taste, although taste also serves them.

It is a well ordered and a well organized world, and the odors play a prominent part. These delightful perfumes which you enjoy when strolling through the fields were intended to be just as they are; they are working every moment of the day and night to take care of something. They are a part of the whole plan of the out-of-doors, and even the despised odors that are offensive to human beings are for the purpose of doing their part to hold the world together. We couldn't get along without any of them; species would disappear if we were to change their odors. Wild things would disappear if we fixed the perfumes of the vegetation to suit our own desires. The things we call noxious are quite as important in the world as the things we have learned to love and enjoy. Something, somewhere, is attracted or repelled by every odor that we encounter out of doors, and the old world wobbles on in bliss because it is so well arranged for the creatures that inhabit it.

HOME MADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Menthol and Arco and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

WAS NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

RESTORED TO NORMAL HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, enemic men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you.

Seven a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

THE FARMERS INCOME TAX

[Farmers, ranchers, herders, dairymen, truck-gardeners, vineyard and orchard owners, and other producers of foods must figure up their net incomes for 1919 and ascertain whether an income tax return or a tax, or both, are due.

All farm gains are taxable, including those derived from exchange of produce for other things. Necessary and ordinary farm expenses are deductible in figuring net income. The best way to figure it all up is to get Form 1040-A and Form 1040-F, and follow the instructions thereon.

Those who sold farm lands must figure up the gains realized from sales. There must also be included in the farmer's income any items received from outside sources.

An unmarried or widowed farmer, or one living apart from his wife, must file a return if the net income for 1919 was $1,000 or more; if married and living with wife on December 31, no return need be made unless his net income was $2,000 or more.

Returns and payments must reach the Collector of Revenue by March 15, 1920.

REV. D. W. MARTIN ENDS VISIT HERE

Rev. D. W. Martin, returned Saturday morning to his home in Toledo, Ohio, after a week's visit with his parents.

Mr. Martin has just completed a year's work as pastor of East Toledo Christian church which is one of the prosperous and growing churches of the city, and under Mr. Martin's leadership has made splendid advancement.

Mr. Martin's plans for the future are somewhat unsettled as he feels that he is badly in need of a rest after long and continuous years of school and church work.

Ben Davenport, of Alexander, was a business visitor in Jacksonville yesterday.

ALUMNI HELD THEIR ANNUAL BANQUET

Illinois College Men of Springfield Held Interesting Session—Committee Named to Aid Campaigns.

The Springfield Alumni of Illinois College held their annual banquet at the St. Nicholas Hotel Friday evening. During the years of the war the meetings of the Association had been omitted and this was the first banquet held since the end of the war.

About forty alumni, trustees, friends and alumnae of the Jacksonville Female Academy were present. John A. Barber '94 acted as toastmaster and introduced in a very happy manner the various speakers. Those who responded to toasts were: W. E. Sampson, '98; L. E. Stone, '02; Andrew Russell; Thomas W. Smith '37; President C. H. Rammelkamp, Logan Hay and Thomas Worthington. Most of the addresses related to the plans for the future development of the College. All of the speakers expressed a warm interest in those plans, and the Association pledged its cooperation and appointed a committee to assist the trustees in the solicitation of funds in Sangamon county.

The committee appointed for this purpose consisted of Robert Lanphier, a trustee; Dr. P. P. Lowndes, '05; Roy Z. McKown '06; W. E. Sampson '98 and J. A. Barber '94. During the course of the banquet the company sang a number of songs accompanied by Mrs. Roy Z. McKown at the piano. The success of the affair was due in large part to the efforts of Mr. McKown who is one of the most successful of the younger alumni in Springfield. The officers elected for the following year consisted of Roy Z. McKown, president and Dr. Clifford Maxwell, secretary and treasurer.

Among other alumni and friends present were the following: Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Doying, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rankin, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Harnsberger, John J. Bergen, the Reverend and Mrs. John T. Thomas, and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Prince.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES

The regular devotional meeting be held at Academy Hall Sunday evening. Mack Peters will lead the meeting. The subject will be "The Honor System."

The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. held a joint meeting at the chapel exercises Tuesday morning. It was the first of the chapel exercises to be conducted by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. under the new chapel schedule. Francis Thurmon, President of the Y. M. C. A. had charge of the meeting. After the regular chapel exercises the students enjoyed a very interesting program given by several of the Conservatory of Music students.

President and Mrs. Rammelkamp will give their annual reception to the students and faculty on the evening of Saturday, March 20th. As has been customary for several years, each of the College classes will present a "dramatic stunt" that evening and a prize will be given to the class presenting the most successful stunt.

Dean F. S. Hayden, will attend the State Interchurch Conference in Chicago on Monday and Tuesday as the representative from Illinois college.

Mr. I. B. Potter, who has been officiating as referee during the High School Tournament, is an alumnus of the College. For the past few years he was an instructor in Illinois College but left Jacksonville last fall to take a position as Principal of the Dixon High School, at Dixon, Illinois.

An announcement was made in one of the Washington papers recently that the presidency of Cornell University, had been offered to Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip, an honorary alumnus of the College.

Friends of Harold N. Graves ex'98 will be glad to learn that he has been promoted to the position of Assistant Chief of the Efficiency Bureau, in Washington, D. C.

News has recently come of the death of Charles O. D. Swett '65.

Greatest Improvement in Riding Comfort Since the Introduction of Pneumatic Tires

The new Overland is a new kind of car, which women particularly will appreciate. For it combines the riding ease of the heavy long wheel base car with the economy and driving ease of the light weight car. The source of its riding luxury lies in the exclusive New THREE-POINT CANTILEVER SPRINGS. Their resiliency adds a degree of protection to both car and passengers, which virtually removes the fatigue of a long motor journey. Only a ride in this car can give you a real understanding of the full significance of this great improvement. And added to all its riding comfort OVERLAND 4 exhibits in every detail those convenient niceties which properly distinguish it as a car of the highest quality.

Jerseyville Again Wins District Tournament By Defeating Bluffs

THIRD PLACE GOES TO PITTS.

FIELD AND FOURTH TO AUBURN

Jersey County Aggregation Were Easily Class of Tournament—Biggest Surprise of day Was Defeat of Pittsfield and Jacksonville—Officials Select All Star Teams.

ALL STAR TEAM CHOSEN BY OFFICIALS

The following teams were selected by officials Potter and Rose as the class of the tournament.

First Team.
Forwards—Thompson, Bluffs; Seago, Jerseyville; Center—Rolf, Bluffs; Guards—Giers, Jerseyville; Walsh, Pittsfield.

Second Team.
Forwards—Post, Jerseyville; Plattner, Pittsfield; Center—Irwin, Jerseyville; Guards—Welch, Auburn; W. Knight, Waverly.

Third Team.
Forwards—Gorman, Waverly; Lucas, Jacksonville; Center—Hubbs, White Hall; Guards—Butler, Pittsfield; Grier, White Hall.

Upsetting all the dope pots and crossing practically every dopester in attendance, Jerseyville stepped out and won the district basketball tournament Saturday night when she defeated Bluffs by a score of 40 to 16.

There has never been a tournament since the State high school association began holding district tournaments where the dope was so completely upset as was the case in the one just closed.

The first jolt given was when Bluffs moved up the floor with Jacksonville Saturday morning. Jacksonville seemed to be in a trance and the men never got to going during the entire game. When the final gun sounded which was also "taps" for Jacksonville's tournament hopes, the score was 33 to 10 in favor of Bluffs.

Then the next upset was when Jerseyville swamped Pittsfield. The Pike County team had been picked by almost everybody as the class of the tournament, though Jerseyville was admittedly strong. However, Jerseyville easily eliminated Pittsfield and made her look like a selling plaster. Then in the finals for the championship the Jersey county aggregation continued to demonstrate their class by mauling Bluffs by as big a score as she defeated Pittsfield.

For the first few minutes play, Bluffs held Jerseyville fairly even. The Scott county team was the first to score. But then Jerseyville got to going and when the first half ended the score was 24 to 6 in her favor. Thereafter it was merely a question of how many Jerseyville would make.

Morning Games.
In the first game of the morning, Auburn easily defeated Divernon, the score being 20 to 15. Jerseyville beat Virginia by a score of 26 to 25 in the second game of the day. However, Jerseyville did not have many of its first string men in the game. Another scare at the morning session was when White Hall held Pittsfield to a 30 to 31 score. This was when it began to appear that Pittsfield was slipping and they continued to slip in the afternoon and finally fell hard.

The attendance at the tournament was the largest in history. The event was well handled and great credit is due to Principal Hopkins and his corps of capable assistants.

The only thing we regretted was that the wish of Bluffs did not come true. Bluffs expressed the hope that the fortunes of war would bring Pittsfield to her as an opponent during the tournament.

We were hoping that some thing but the misfortunes of war threw Jerseyville in the sack with Bluffs. To Bluffs must be given the credit of playing a hard, clean game. Her players were skilled at the game and were seldom penalized for fouling. The boys made a most favorable impression here and even tho they did defeat the local team they had many supporters in the home crowd. The scores of the day's games follow:

WEATHER BAD FOR WALL CLIMBING

"Human Fly" Postponed Ascent of Ayers National Bank Building

George Polley of "Human Fly" fame, had a large crowd gathered Saturday afternoon to watch him scale the wall of the Ayers National bank building. It had been announced that the performance would be given for the benefit of the Jacksonville chapter American Legion and a collection was taken. However, the weather was so unfavorable and the walls so slippery that Polley decided not to make the climb. He announced that the first day that the weather is favorable during this week that he will scale the walls of the building clear to the roof. After making this announcement yesterday afternoon he went to the roof of the building and climbed the flag pole. Later he stood on his head near the outer edge of the roof and performed some other acrobatic stunts which seemed to be quite pleasing to the crowd.

VETERINARIANS NOW IN PARTNERSHIP

Dr. Willerton is Associated With Dr. W. A. Cornell—New Resident Is World War Veteran.

Dr. Thomas Willerton, long a well known local veterinarian, has associated with him Dr. W. A. Cornell, until recently a resident of Springfield. The firm will be known as Willerton & Cornell.

Dr. Willerton has practiced successfully in this county for thirty five years and during the past twenty years has been a resident of this city. His extensive practice made the new partnership desirable.

Dr. Cornell was formerly associated with Dr. Holmes of Springfield, now retired. He is a graduate of the Kansas City veterinary college and saw two years' service as lieutenant in a veterinary corps in the world war. He was for a time acting director veterinarian of the 39th division and with his assistants had charge of 4,000 horses.

Later he was transferred to the third division and went with the army of occupation as far as Andenach, Germany. Dr. Cornell with his wife and son is now living at 348 East College avenue. He will enter at once actively into practice and will take care of both day and night calls.

MINISTERS GOING TO STATE CONFERENCE

Morgan County Will Be Well Represented at Big Chicago Meeting.

Practically all the Protestant ministers of Jacksonville and a number from the county will attend the inter-church world movement conference at Orchestra hall in Chicago, tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday. The session will open at Orchestra hall Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. This is a state conference and the pastors are to be seated by counties. Bishop Thomas Nicholson of the Methodist church, Rev. R. Calvin Dobson, Illinois field manager of the movement; Dr. William P. Merrill of New York City; Dr. J. Campbell White and other prominent ministers will take part in the program.

In Morgan county Rev. J. O. Kirkpatrick was designated as county convener and it has been his task to get in touch with the forty-two minister residents in the county and arrange for as many as possible of them to attend the conference.

The list of those intending to be present at the conference includes: Reverends W. H. Maybach, W. E. Collins, W. E. Spoons, E. B. Landis, G. W. Randle, T. L. Tull, J. O. Kirkpatrick, J. R. Harker, J. L. Ruthford, M. L. Pontius, F. M. Rule, E. L. Pletcher, E. C. Crockett, all of this city. Meredosa—Fred Read. Lynville—Thomas Symons. Waverly—Walter Mitchell. Franklin—J. H. James. Chapin—C. G. Cantrell, M. R. Sternferdt. Orleans—R. L. Reynolds. Woodson—A. C. Powell. It is possible that still other ministers will go and altogether the county will be well represented. Most of the delegates will leave tonight on the Wabash 9 o'clock train.

With the Sick

Fleanor Louise, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Carson of 807 Ashland avenue, who has been ill for several weeks with pneumonia, is reported as able to be up and around the home. S. W. Nichols, who has been confined to his home on West College street for the past month, is gaining strength daily. The weather just now is so unfavorable for convalescents that Mr. Nichols will probably remain within his home for several days longer. However, he is expecting in the course of another week or two to resume his newspaper activities and the other lines of work in which he is so thoroughly interested. Gilbert Snyder, 435 East College avenue, has been confined to his home by illness. MOTHERS AND FRIENDS
All members of the Mothers and Friends association are requested to meet at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Central Christian church to attend the funeral services for Fred Woodward.

MINIMUM SALARY FOR SCOTT CO. TEACHERS

County Teachers' Association Fixes $800 as Minimum Wage—Arthur Brown Returns From St. Louis Hospital—Other News Items.

Winchester, March 6.—The Scott County Teachers' association held a special meeting at the grade building Saturday afternoon to discuss the question of salary. There was a large attendance of teachers and it was altogether a very important meeting. A resolution was adopted fixing $800 as the minimum wage for Scott county teachers.

Miss Ethel McClure was absent from the county clerk's office Friday and Saturday on account of illness.

George Stewart and family, who motored to St. Louis a few days ago, returned Friday night on a late train. They decided it was too cold to drive thru by car and left the machine at St. Louis. Arthur Brown arrived home Saturday noon from a hospital in St. Louis, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Ollie Taylor returned Saturday to her home in Springfield. She was called here by the death of her father, Mr. Lewis Lloyd Daniels is confined to his home by illness. The public sale of Giles and C. E. Tankersley has been postponed until Wednesday, March 10.

AT THE GRAND

Another large audience assembled at the Grand Opera house last night when the second theatrical performance of the season was given. "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath" was the title of the farce comedy presented. There are three acts with no end of complications. The whole story centers about Reginald Irving and his wife. The young man, who is somewhat timid of nature and of strict morals, for some unaccountable reason seeks to have his wife believe that he is really a terrible flirt and philanderer. Then much to his surprise, his wife declares that if he is any other kind of man that she would have little respect for him.

In the endeavor to make good in his false belief irregularities he falls into a continued series of escapades. The plot thickens with every scene but eventually everything comes out happily and Mr. and Mrs. Irving are restored to their minds and their right relationships. The audience present seemed to thoroughly enjoy the story with its stage pictured complications.

DR. J. W. HANCHER IS VISITOR IN CITY

Dr. J. W. Hancher, associate secretary of the board of education of the Methodist church, is here on a brief visit with Dr. Harker at the Woman's College and will occupy of the pulpit of Grace M. E. church this morning. Dr. Hancher has for some time past been active in the work of the centenary movement of the Methodist church, active particularly in the finance department. He retains this important work with the board of education but has been lent to the centenary organization. Persons who are familiar with Methodist church affairs know that Dr. Hancher has a work of great importance both to the church and its friends. He has made a remarkable record in assisting educational institutions in all parts of the country in their special campaigns. It was this record of achievement that brought requests from the centenary organization for his expert services. In this connection it is interesting to note that Miss Winifred Willard, who is one of Dr. Hancher's assistants will come to Jacksonville this week to spend two days at the Women's college.

The Maytag

This Famous Gasoline Power Washer Gives You All the Advantages of an Electric Washer

Farm and town homes which have no electricity can now enjoy the same conveniences as homes where electric washer can be used.

The Maytag Multi-Motor Washer does just as good work, is just as compact and as easy to move around as electric washer.

Yet its power is furnished by a compact gasoline engine built right in the machine. This is the only washer containing its own gasoline engine. This is because the Maytag Multi-Motor is the only successful, air-cooled, one-half horse power motor ever developed. It uses very little oil and gas, weighs only 35 pounds. Yet it has power to spare. It is equipped with a special, flexible exhaust tube which may be put outdoors while engine is running in the house.

If you do not have electricity in your home come and see this wonderful Maytag Multi-Motor Washer. See what an improvement it is over the old-style washers which require a separate gasoline engine. See how you can now do your washing wherever you choose—indoors, outdoors—in the basement, in the kitchen, anywhere.

And this advanced-type gasoline power-washer avoids the hard, dangerous work of hand-cranking. The Maytag Multi-Motor is started easily by placing the foot on the starting pedal. In every respect the Multi-Motor Washer is as simple to operate as the finest electric washer. All parts are durable and all mechanism is fully protected from water.

The Multi-Motor has the same type of swinging reversible wringer as the famous Maytag Electric Washer. It wrings from the machine to the rinse tub—from the rinse tub into the blue tub—from the blue tub into the clothes basket—all without moving the machine.

And when the wash is done you can operate the churn, separator, the feed grinder, etc., from the pulley wheel on the side of the machine.

Come in and let us give you a complete demonstration of this wonderful machine. Let us show you how you can do your washing with greater ease and greater satisfaction by the Maytag Multi-Motor Washer with built-in gasoline engine.

WHY AND WHEN TO CULL POULTRY FLOCK

Farm Adviser G. B. Kendall Gives Instructions on Why, When and How to Cull the Flock—No Great Mystery About the Matter.

(By G. B. Kendall County Agent)

There is no great mystery about flock culling. Any person of ordinary intelligence can follow his own flock by following the following directions. If he wishes to make a guess as to the number of eggs a hen will probably lay, it may pay him to get Walter Hogan's book, "The Call of the Hen". However, we are not absolutely certain that the correlation in mathematical way exists between certain physical characteristics and egg production shown in certain tables in this book. Yet, those tables have the endorsement of many prominent poultry judges. Our own D. T. Heimlich is a firm believer in the Hogan System, and follows it not only in culling flocks, but in predicting the possible production of a hen.

The following is really an outline for flock culling followed by the County Agent before he had read Hogan's book.

Some Reason.

Why Cull?—With feed high in price and in many cases difficult to get, it is of greatest importance to cull the poultry flock. Culling serves two purposes: First, it induces that the feed will be consumed by the better-producing hens, thereby increasing the profit. Second, it makes it possible to save those best suited for breeders, both on account of their better production and on account of their superior strength and vitality, qualities so essential to layers if they are to stand up under the severe strain of heavy laying. Weeding out the poor hens gives those left more room and a better chance. Where trap nesting is practiced culling is a comparatively simple process.

When to Cull—Culling should be continuous throughout the year. This continuous culling should consist of weeding out, when discovered, any hen which is sick, which is very thin or emaciated, or which shows evidences of non-production, weakness, or poor vitality.

The whole flock could also be given a careful and systematic culling at some one time. The hens should be handled individually and gone over carefully with the object of dividing them into two lots, one the better producers, and the other the poorer producers. From the better producers it is also desirable to pick out as quacks or layers as will need culling at some one time. The mark these hens so that eggs from them only will be saved for hatching. Market those selected as the poor producers. Save for laying and breeding those selected as the better producers.

When a single systematic culling is made, the best time to do this is in August or September. At this time it is easier to form a fairly close estimate of the relative value of a hen as an egg producer and to weed out the non-producers. Hens which show indications of laying at this time are those which on the average have been the better producers for the year. It must be remembered, too, that the better producers of the first laying year are those which will be the better producers in subsequent years. Hens showing indications of having been good producers throughout the year should be retained for the next year regardless of their age, but relatively few hens will prove to be profitable producers beyond their second laying year if of the heavier breeds, such as the Plymouth Rock, Rhode Island Red, Wyandotte, or Orpington, or beyond their third laying year if of the lighter breed such as the Leghorn. Additional culling during July is also desirable in order to eliminate hens which have started to molt and have stopped laying.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Let "Danderine" save your hair and double its beauty

Oh, girls, such an abundance of thick, heavy, lustrous hair; a perfect mass of wavy, silky hair, gloriously fluffy, bright and so easy to manage.

Just moisten a cloth with a little "Danderine" and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this magically removes all dirt, excess oil and grease, but your hair is not left brittle, dry, stringy or faded, but charmingly soft, with glossy, golden gleams and tender lights. The youthful glints, tints and color are again in your hair.

"Danderine" is a tonic-beautifier. Besides doubling the beauty of the hair at once, it checks dandruff and stops falling hair. Get a little Danderine for a few cents at any drug or toilet counter and use it as a dressing and invigorator as told on bottle.

means that the bird is not laying. Appearance of Vent—The vent of a hen laying heavily is large, expanded, or moist, while that of a hen not laying is comparatively small, hard, puckered and dry. Comb—When a hen is laying or about to lay her comb is large, waxy, full of blood, and bright red in color. When not laying the comb is small and shrunken, pale or dull in color, comparatively hard, and covered with whitish scales. A dark or bluish color usually indicates sickness. The changes in the wattles and ear lobes are similar to those of the comb but not so marked. It is necessary to keep in mind the difference in size of comb of the various breeds.

Pelvic Bones—As a hen stops laying there is a tendency for her to take on fat. This is noticeable in examining the pelvic bones, the two bones which can be felt as small, hard, rounded objects on either side of the vent. When the hen is laying, these bones are comparatively thin and flexible. When she is not laying, they feel thicker and less flexible, due to the fat which has accumulated there. The spread or distance apart of these pelvic bones is also a valuable indication of whether or not the hen is laying. When laying they are wider apart than when not laying. The spread can be roughly measured for practical purposes by determining how many fingers can be laid between the bones. If the spread measures two fingers or less, the probabilities are that the hen is not laying, while if the spread is greater, she is probably laying. In measuring this spread the size of the hens of different breeds, with the corresponding natural difference in the spread, must be kept in mind.

Some Significant Facts. Distance From Pelvic Bones to Keel Bone—A hen laying well is a good eater. Her intestines are, therefore, fuller and a more distended, and require more room than when she is not laying and not eating so much. When laying, the ovary and oviduct are of greater size and require more room. To provide this extra room, the distance from the rear end of the keel to the pelvic bones increases with a consequent increase in size of the abdomen. A spread of three or more fingers in the smaller breeds such as the Leghorn and four or more fingers in the larger breeds such as the Plymouth Rock indicates that the hen is in a laying condition. A spread of less than three fingers in the smaller breeds and less than four fingers in the larger breeds indicates that she is not in laying condition.

Flexibility of Abdomen—When the hen is laying, the greater size of the abdomen, together with the lessened tendency to accumulate fat at this point results in a soft flexible abdomen, suggesting, when handled, the texture of a partly milked-out udder of a cow. When laying has ceased, the abdomen grows smaller, fat is deposited there, and it feels, when handled, harder and less flexible. In culling the flock remember that it is safer to depend upon the accumulation of a combination of several characteristics rather than to select by any one alone, with this in mind.

Sick, weak, or inactive poor eaters, molted or started to molt, and small, puckered, hard, dry vents; with small, shriveled, hard, dull-colored combs; with thick or coarse stiff pelvic bones, pelvic bones close together, small spread between pelvic bones and rear end of keel, and full, hard, small abdomen, in breeds with yellow skin and shanks, the discarded hens should also show yellow or medium yellow shanks and yellow beaks and vents.

Save these Hens—Healthy, strong, vigorous, alert, and active; good eaters; not molting or just beginning to molt in September or October; with large, moist vents; with large, bright-red combs; thin, pliable pelvic bones well spread apart, wide spread between pelvic bones and rear end of keel, and large, soft, pliable abdomen. In breeds with yellow skins and shanks, the hens saved should also show pale or white shanks, and pale or white beaks and vents.

RADICALS DENOUNCED BY NEW FARM BODY

CHICAGO, March 4.—The American Farm Federation closing its annual meeting today adopted resolutions denouncing the attempt to ally agriculturalists with radicals of the industrial world. The federation is composed of 1,060,000 members of farm bureaus in 28 states. The resolution declares: "We wish the people definitely to understand that the organization styled the 'Farmers' National Council' has no authority to speak in behalf of the farmers, and any and all efforts on the part of Farmers' National Council to ally agriculturalists with radicals in the industrial world, is denounced."

Resolutions relating to legislation and other desires of the federation were also adopted. The features being creation and operation of bureaus to have direct supervision of the items pertaining to the work of the federation. Among these bureaus would be on trade relations with foreign countries on distribution of farm products on statistics on legislation, on transportation and for business organizations, the last carrying authority to step a business organization under direction of experts.

Other resolutions endorsed the American Legion and conservation of health and industry, condemned strike and legislation tending to levy a tax of one per cent on land holdings in excess of $1,000.

Half a Pineapple

Crushed to Flavor One Jiffy-Jell Dessert

Here is one example of the wealth of fruit in Jiffy-Jell desserts.

We crush pineapples in Hawaii—fruit too ripe to ship. The juice of half a fruit is condensed and sealed in a vial to flavor one pint dessert.

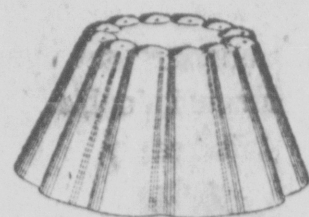

Yet the whole dessert costs but a few cents, ready at your call.

So with eight rich fruits which come in Jiffy-Jell. All are made from crushed fruit, all are abundant. All come in liquid form, condensed and sealed in glass—a bottle in each package.

Real-fruit flavors in bottles

Mark this Jiffy-Jell distinction. Note how it differs from old-style quick gelatine desserts. Jiffy-Jell alone has these bottled fruit-juice essences.

Jiffy-Jell desserts are fruit-made dainties, rich in fruit. The fruit taste is not mere flavor and not artificial.

Methods Followed By Wilson Administration Passed Common Understanding

Washington, March 5.—The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington Headquarters:

"Among all the miserable failures which the Wilson Administration has suffered, there is none more humiliating to the American people than the experienced in the management of diplomatic affairs. Beginning with the appointment of diplomat representatives to foreign countries, down through the entire record, there is scarcely a page that reflects credit upon American diplomacy."

Unqualified Representative
"To recall to mind facts that are well known but largely overlooked in the passing of time, there may be mentioned the policy adopted by President Wilson while William J. Bryan, was Secretary of State, of finding in the diplomatic service lucrative positions for 'deserving Democrats.' To a number of foreign nations Mr. Wilson, upon the recommendation of Mr. Bryan, sent men who had never had a year's experience in diplomacy, and who were qualified in no respect for a service which meant so much to the good standing of this nation among the other nations of the earth. To one South American country, the President sent a rural preacher, who facetiously remarked as he was about to depart for his post, that he had been a minister for thirty years and this might qualify him as a Minister from the United States to another nation. Numerous appointments of similar fitness were made, and all the fact were disclosed in public discussion during the first year of the Wilson Administration."

"Almost from the beginning of his Administration, President Wilson had the Mexican difficulties on his hands. Instead of taking into consultation men of experience in diplomacy and sound judgment in statesmanship, and acting in accordance with decisions that might be arrived at after such conferences, President Wilson undertook to conduct our diplomatic relations with the Southern Republic by making speeches announcing the principles by which America would be guided. He asserted first that there must be a revision of the land laws of Mexico; that the condition of the Mexican people must be ameliorated, but later he said that Mexico's domestic troubles were no affairs of ours, and if her problems must be worked out through bloodshed, it would not be our part to interfere. When Huerta came to the Presidency in Mexico, with apparently as good a claim to the office as others who occupied it before and after, President Wilson refused to recognize him on the allegation that he came to the office with blood on his hands, thus undertaking to establish the precedent of having the title to the Presidency of Mexico settled in Washington. Leading European nations had recognized Huerta."

Mexican Affairs.
"When there were three claimants to ascendancy in the Sister Republic, President Wilson sent a message calling upon the three factions to get together in conference and settle their differences, declaring that otherwise the United States would not recognize any one of the three. Two of the aspirants for power agreed to the plan for a conference but Carranza defied the President and suggested that he mind his own business. Within a very short time President Wilson recognized Carranza, thus not only yielding his demand for a conference, but recognizing the man from whom he had met defiance. In one incident after another, Carranza won diplomatic successes in his controversy with President Wilson. The President placed an embargo upon arms to Mexico, lifted the embargo, and restored it; he aided Villa and opposed him; he sent troops into Mexico to get Villa, and called them home without success; he sent a fleet to Vera Cruz, took possession of the Custom House, seized Mexican public monies, and called the American fighting forces home with nothing gained."

"Our diplomatic relations with Germany, following the outbreak of the war, are similarly a matter of record. President Wilson shook first the fist and then the finger; declared that Germany would be held to a strict accountability, and then took no action when the most atrocious acts were committed by German ships on the high seas. After the sinking of the Lusitania the world was assured that America was too proud to fight. Only a few months before we entered the war, President Wilson declared that the Central Powers and the Allies were fighting for the same end, that one was no more culpable than the other, and that there must be a peace without victory—all the nations sitting as equals at the Peace Conference. Even after America entered the war, President Wilson was conducting negotiations with the apparent purpose of terminating the war without a decisive outcome."

League of Nations Plan
"But the most humiliating incident of all was the fiasco at Versailles, when British diplomacy won signal victories over the American spokesmen. President Wilson agreed to a Treaty which would involve the United States in a League of Nations in which Great Britain would have six votes to America's one and which would have the power to limit armaments, bring economic pressure to bear upon various nations, place new interpretations on the Monroe Doctrine or abrogate it entirely, make American domestic problems such as the tariff and immigration, subjects to a

League determination, and require the United States to furnish money, soldiers and other resources to guarantee the territorial integrity of practically all the other civilized nations of the globe. All this was the what President Wilson alluded to as the 'supreme sacrifice' which he wanted the United States to make but which the British Ambassador has declared the Allies can not expect. President Wilson made supreme concessions from which the nation has been saved by patriotic and courageous Republican Senators. So far as the credit of American diplomacy has been saved, it has been saved in the Senate and not in the White House.

Jiffy-Jell made with Sun-Maid Raisins or None Such Mince Meat. Made with Style C Mold—Pint Size.

Half a Pineapple

Crushed to Flavor One Jiffy-Jell Dessert

Here is one example of the wealth of fruit in Jiffy-Jell desserts.

We crush pineapples in Hawaii—fruit too ripe to ship. The juice of half a fruit is condensed and sealed in a vial to flavor one pint dessert.

Yet the whole dessert costs but a few cents, ready at your call.

So with eight rich fruits which come in Jiffy-Jell. All are made from crushed fruit, all are abundant. All come in liquid form, condensed and sealed in glass—a bottle in each package.

Real-fruit flavors in bottles

Mark this Jiffy-Jell distinction. Note how it differs from old-style quick gelatine desserts. Jiffy-Jell alone has these bottled fruit-juice essences.

Jiffy-Jell desserts are fruit-made dainties, rich in fruit. The fruit taste is not mere flavor and not artificial.

People need fruit daily. Now, when fruit is costly, this is an ideal way to serve it.

Complete desserts

Jiffy-Jell comes ready-sweetened. It is acidulated with evaporated fruit acid. A rare grade gelatine is in it, and the fruit-juice essence in a vial.

You simply add hot water as directed on package, and let cool. Then a package of Jiffy-Jell serves six people in mold form, or twelve if you whip the jelly.

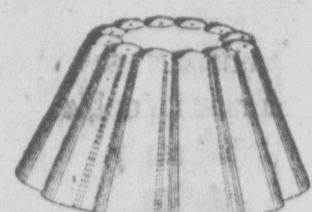

Yet this fruit-made dainty, rich in fruit, costs a trifle. It costs less than serving apples.

'Twill delight you

Try Jiffy-Jell in various fruit flavors. Try lime fruit flavor for a tart green salad jelly. Try mint for a mint jelly to serve with meats.

Learn what these dainties mean to you. Compare them with old-style desserts of this type.

We offer you choice of several 50-cent molds; you will do this, and at once. Cut out our offer; you won't forget.

DIPLOMATIC AFFAIRS
IN CONSTANT TANGLE

Methods Followed By Wilson Administration Passed Common Understanding

Washington, March 5.—The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington Headquarters:

"Among all the miserable failures which the Wilson Administration has suffered, there is none more humiliating to the American people than that experienced in the management of diplomatic affairs. Beginning with the appointment of diplomatic representatives to foreign countries, down through the entire record, there is scarcely a page that reflects credit upon American diplomacy."

Unqualified Representative

"To recall to mind facts that are well known but largely overlooked in the passing of time, there may be mentioned the policy adopted by President Wilson while William J. Bryan was Secretary of State of finding in the diplomatic service lucrative positions for 'deserving Democrats.' To a number of foreign nations Mr. Wilson, upon the recommendation of Mr. Bryan, sent men who had never had a day's experience in diplomacy, and who were qualified in no respect for a service which meant so much to the good standing of this nation among the other nations of the earth. To one South American country, the President sent a rural preacher, who facetiously remarked as he was about to depart for his post, that he had been a minister for thirty years and this might qualify him as a Minister from the United States to another nation. Numerous appointments of similar fitness were made, and all the fact were disclosed in public discussion during the first year of the Wilson Administration."

Almost from the beginning of his Administration, President Wilson had the Mexican difficulties on his hands. Instead of taking into consultation men of experience in diplomacy and sound judgment in statesmanship, and acting in accordance with decisions that might be arrived at after such conferences, President Wilson undertook to conduct our diplomatic relations with the Southern Republic by making speeches announcing the principles by which America would be guided. He asserted first that there must be a revision of the land laws of Mexico; that the condition of the Mexican people must be ameliorated, but later he said that Mexico's domestic troubles were no affairs of ours, and if her problems must be worked out through bloodshed, it would not be our part to interfere. When Huerta came to the Presidency in Mexico, with apparently as good a claim to the office as others who occupied it before and after, President Wilson refused to recognize him on the allegation that he came to the office with blood on his hands, thus undertaking to establish the precedent of having the title to the Presidency of Mexico settled in Washington. Leading European nations had recognized Huerta."

Mexican Affairs.

"When there were three claimants to ascendancy in the Sister Republic, President Wilson sent a message calling upon the three factions to get together in conference and settle their differences, declaring that otherwise the United States would not recognize any one of the three. Two of the aspirants for power agreed to the plan for a conference but Carranza defied the President and suggested that he mind his own business. Within a very short time President Wilson recognized Carranza, thus not only yielding his demand for a conference, but recognizing the man from whom he had met defiance. In one incident after another, Carranza won diplomatic successes in his controversy with President Wilson. The President placed an embargo upon arms to Mexico, lifted the embargo, and restored it; he aided Villa and opposed him; he sent troops into Mexico to get Villa, and called them home without success; he sent a fleet to Vera Cruz, took possession of the Custom House, seized Mexican public monies, and called the American fighting forces home with nothing gained."

"Our diplomatic relations with Germany, following the outbreak of the war, are similarly a matter of record. President Wilson shook first the fist and then the finger; declared that Germany would be held to a strict accountability, and then took no action when the most atrocious acts were committed by German ships on the high seas. After the sinking of the Lusitania the world was assured that America was too proud to fight. Only a few months before we entered the war, President Wilson declared that the Central Powers and the Allies were fighting for the same end, that one was no more culpable than the other, and that there must be a peace without victory—all the nations sitting as equals at the Peace Conference. Even after America entered the war, President Wilson was conducting negotiations with the apparent purpose of terminating the war without a decisive outcome."

League of Nations Plan

"But the most humiliating incident of all was the fiasco at Versailles, when British diplomacy won signal victories over the American spokesmen. President Wilson agreed to a Treaty which would involve the United States in a League of Nations in which Great Britain would have six votes to America's one and which would have the power to limit armaments, bring economic pressure to bear upon various nations, place new interpretations on the Monroe Doctrine or abrogate it entirely, make American domestic problems such as the tariff and immigration, subjects to a League determination, and require the United States to furnish money, soldiers and other resources to guarantee the territorial integrity of practically all the other civilized nations of the globe. All this was the what President Wilson alluded to as the 'supreme sacrifice' which he wanted the United States to make but which the British Ambassador has declared the Allies can not expect. President Wilson made supreme concessions from which the nation has been saved by patriotic and courageous Republican Senators. So far as the credit of American diplomacy has been saved, it has been saved in the Senate and not in the White House."

"Everybody familiar with recent history remembers the long list of outgivings from the White House boasting of the 'diplomatic triumphs' which were claimed to have been achieved from time to time in our dealings with both Mexico and Germany. Looking back over the record, where, in all that time is there one achievement that can now be pointed to with pride and now claimed as a diplomatic victory?"

The Music Teacher

The Cheney Reproducer

Is equipped with an unusually sensitive diaphragm.

As a result, delicate overtones heretofore lost, which constitute the real beauty of a selection, are brought out.

Needle scratch and mechanical noise are muted.

Children who study music and have a Cheney in their home have a real advantage. They gain a conception of musical interpretation and learn to judge tone quality with remarkable ease.

For The Cheney reproduces music with all of the rich quality which characterized the original. The touch of the pianist, the bowing of the violinist, the breathing and phrasing of the vocalist are faithfully reproduced.

As an aid to musical appreciation, The Cheney is unsurpassed among reproducing instruments.

He is also survived by his parents, two brothers, Chester and Harold and his grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Hyatt with other relatives and friends.

He was a member of the Methodist church and of the M. W. A. order of this place.

A quartet composed of J. A. Hilderbrand, A. G. Pond, Mrs. T. W. Burdick and Miss Esther Yeckel with Mrs. L. H. Vost as accompanist furnished appropriate music for the services. The bearers were Wade McDaniel, C. P. Hedrick, Fred Payne, G. A. Bennett, William Ayers and W. A. Steplin. Interment took place in Oakland cemetery.

MRS. ABBOTT

MRS. ALICE McCLUSKEY, prominent Lewiston woman, who says she wishes she could have gotten Tanlac twenty years ago, as it would have saved her lots of suffering. Declares she is now well and happy and that she wants everybody to know about it.

"I have been trying for twenty long years to find a medicine that would overcome my troubles, but my efforts failed me completely until I commenced taking Tanlac," was the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Alice McCluskey, residing at No. 66 Park street, Lewiston, Me., a well-known and most highly respected woman of the city.

"I just feel like I would give the world to meet everyone who suffers as I did and tell them about this medicine. If I could only have gotten Tanlac twenty years ago it would have saved me a lot of suffering and money."

"My principal trouble was indigestion, and for many years I could not eat meat or pastries for I would always suffer afterward. I would most always have a distressed feeling after eating and nothing seemed to agree with me. Then, to add to the rest of my suffering, I contracted rheumatism in my shoulders and hips and the awful pains I suffered can never be told in words. This trouble finally got so bad I could hardly walk and my arms pained me so I could scarcely raise my hands to my head. I even had to give up my housework and was hardly able to get around at all."

"You can imagine how happy I was when after taking only a few bottles of Tanlac, I found such a wonderful improvement in my condition! Why, it was just the medicine I needed all the time and I continued taking it until now I am perfectly well again. I can truthfully say that I am enjoying as good health now as I ever had in all my life. I have gained about 14 pounds in weight and can again do all my housework without the least trouble. I don't get tired like I did and after doing my work I can get out and walk for blocks and feel just fine when I get back home. I earnestly advise everyone who suffers as I did to take Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Jacksonville by Coover & Shreve and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

WOMEN PLAY BRIDGE ON TRAINS

LONDON, Feb. 7. — Women who travel up to town daily from Brighton, the famous watering place, have taken to playing bridge on the trains. The stakes are often chocolates or gloves. As they often leave their cards at home, the guards of the trains have taken to carrying a spare pack for the use of the women.

Convenience Outlets

Next to the convenience of having electrical appliances in your home are those very serviceable convenience outlets where you can "plug in" without disturbing the lights and fixtures.

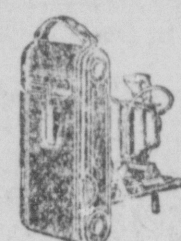

The Electric Cleaner is just one instance of where the utility of an appliance lies largely in its availability and ease of attachment when wanted.

The fact that your house is already wired need not deprive you of these handy outlets. A phone call will bring our representative with particulars.

Stephenson's Fight for Recognition

When George Stephenson invented the locomotive, all the forces of incredulity that ignore the conservatism that hates the ridicule that mocks what is new, were brought to bear to oppose his great invention. The same spirit of mockery and criticism has confronted practically every new and worthy idea.

CHIROPRACTIC UNDER FIRE

Those who accepted disease and suffering as a natural part of life's experience, laughed and scoffed when Chiropractic first launched the idea that ill health was unnatural and the direct result of spinal pressure on the nerves, which shut off the life forces of the body. And they ridiculed the idea that by simple Chiropractic spinal adjustments, without drugs or knife, this pressure could be relieved, the cause of disease corrected and normal conditions, health restored.

But in the face of it all, Chiropractic has advanced because it has proved it is right. Thousands who formerly suffered are now enjoying health through the aid of and it is rapidly being accepted as the logical, most effective drugless health science of the ages. If you are not enjoying good health, give Chiropractic (KI-RO-PRAK-TIC), a fair, open-minded investigation and prove its value to you and your loved ones.

DR. PHILIP H. GRIGGS
THE BETTER WAY TO HEALTH

OBITUARY.

Sarah McFillen Murray was born near Litterberry, Ill., May 18, 1859, and died at her home in Litterberry February 28, 1920. She was the daughter of James and Mary McFillen and was married November 23, 1876 to William E. Murray. To this union were born four children who with the father survive, namely: Alvin E. Murray, of Fort Dodge, Iowa; Claude, of Racine, Wis.; Mrs. John Guy, of Litterberry, and Mrs. Hattie Vastine, of Hastings, Nebr. She also leaves the following brothers and sisters, J. C. McFillen and Mrs. J. A. Henderson, of Litterberry and Mrs. Isabel Cox and Mrs. Teresa Watt, of Jacksonville. Two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Dailey of Chicago, and Mrs. William Henderson of Jacksonville, preceded her in death.

She also leaves four grandchildren and a host of friends to mourn her death.

Mrs. Murray (or Aunt Sade as she was more familiarly known) was a member of Litterberry Baptist church where she took an active interest in everything pertaining to the Master's work. She was especially interested in the missionary spirit of the church, she served as president of the Ladies' Aid Society for a number of years. She organized a mission study circle in the church and was teacher in the Sunday School until about three years ago when she became a sufferer from pernicious anemia, which kept her from regularly attending the services but her heart and her prayers were always with those who were trying to carry on the work she so earnestly began. Her sole aim in life seemed to be "others," as her life was spent trying to do something for somebody else. She was untiring in her efforts in her home, for her family, for her church and for her friends.

She endured untold sufferings the past few years but she was always patient and it was always an inspiration to visit her sick room. Her host of friends included the little children and young people as well as the older ones.

The funeral services which were among the largest ever held in Litterberry were held at the Baptist church Monday afternoon in charge of the pastor, Rev. W. R. Johnson, assisted by Rev. F. M. Crabtree, both of Jacksonville. Rev. Mr. Crabtree read the 91st Psalm which was a favorite of the deceased and followed with a very impressive prayer and Rev. Mr. Johnson paid the last respects in a very fitting manner.

The music was very beautifully rendered by Mrs. W. R. Johnson, accompanied by Mrs. H. D. Crum. The beautiful floral tributes were cared for by Mrs. A. Dunlap, Mrs. Jed Cox, Mrs. John Butler, Mrs. Arthur Henderson, Miss Eleanor Guy and Mrs. James Petefish.

Burial was made in the Arcadia cemetery, the officers being the following nephews of the deceased, Edgar Cully, Earl Cox, Andrew Lewis, Ed Litter, Arthur Henderson and John Butler.

Thou art gone to the grave, we no longer deplore thee. Tho sorrows and darkness uncompass the tomb. The Savior has passed thro its portals before thee. And the lamp of His love is thy guide thru the gloom.

Thou art gone to the grave—We no longer behold thee. Nor tread the rough path of the world by thy side. But the wide arms of Mercy are spread to unfold thee. And sinners may hope, since the sinless has died.

Thou art gone to the grave—But 'twere wrong to deplore thee. When God was thy ransom, thy Guardian, thy guide. He gave thee. He took thee and soon will restore thee. Where Death has no sting since The Savior hath died.

Meeting of Executive Committee. The executive committee met at the courthouse Saturday morning March 6, with Messrs. Black, Wright, Rohrer, Drake, and Leach present. It was moved and seconded to pay all bills, incurred in behalf of the Illinois Association and send the Secretary a statement of the amount. Motion carried.

Moved and seconded to pay expenses of delegates to the Peoria convention. Motion carried. Recommended that proper steps be taken to change the name of the county organization to the Morgan County Farm Bureau, to provide for the election of the executive committee at a county wide meeting instead of by the advisory council as at present, and to recommend the appointment of community chairman for the purpose of arranging for meetings.

Moved and seconded that officers and employees handling money be required to give bond. Seemed to be the sense of those present that we ought to have a round-up for new members sometime in the near future.

The committee will continue the unfinished business Saturday morning, March 13th. Every member of the executive committee is urged to the present.

What Car Rivals the Hudson Super-Six?

What can any fine car give that compensates for lack of the Super-Six motor?

It is exclusive in Hudson. For five years it has meant unquestioned supremacy in acceleration, hill climbing, road and speedway contests. But, more important, it reduces vibration almost to nil and so checks the most destructive force automobiles must contend with. This assures dependable everyday transportation and long life in the car.

And Hudson also is supreme in design. It created models now standard with all fine cars. Men and women of good taste always turn first to Hudson for beauty, distinction, power, speed, reliability and endurance.

More than 80,000 Hudsons have been sold. The demand far exceeds production. Unless you order now you may be disappointed in delivery.

WALLIS

America's Foremost Tractor

Order Your Wallis Now

and avoid disappointment

Hundreds of good business farmers were disappointed last year because they were not able to get a Wallis Tractor.

Many have told us, because of their delay in buying they suffered considerable financial loss. For this reason, we believe, we owe it to our farmer friends to submit the facts regarding Wallis production.

During the past year our plan for increased production of Wallis tractors has been completely carried out. But keeping up Wallis quality of precision, care and accuracy, permits us to safely increase production only a given per cent each year.

Therefore we know in advance that many who would buy Wallis tractors this year will be disappointed unless their orders are placed immediately. Our dealer-distributors are vying with each other in placing orders for early shipment, but we have asked them to be content with fewer Wallis tractors than they are demanding, to the end that each community may get its share of the available supply.

We ask you and every other intending purchaser to be fair with himself—to look ahead to the early spring work—to harvest time, when the heat is killing horses in the fields and stopping binders; and to threshing time, when dependable power means time saved and increased profits.

If you are to have a Wallis, you cannot delay placing your order.

There is a Wallis dealer near you who will accept your deposit and hold your Wallis Tractor and J. I. Case Tractor Plow, Lister and Disc Harrow for you. Or, better still, will deliver them immediately.

J. I. CASE PLOW WORKS COMPANY, Racine, Wis., U.S.A.

NOTICE: We want the public to know that the WALLIS TRACTOR is made by the J. I. CASE PLOW WORKS COMPANY of Racine, Wisconsin, and is NOT the produce of any other company with "J. I. CASE" as part of its corporate name.

ILLINOIS WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES

The Annual initiation services of Belles Lettres Literary Society were observed last Saturday evening in Belles Lettres Hall. After the initiation a banquet was served. Many of the old members and friends of the society were present. Mrs. Jeannette Taylor Hemphill acted as toastmistress. Miss Louise Miller sang and the Misses Florence Madden, Isabel Woodman, Helen Poole and Alma Biedget responded to toasts. The old girls who came back for the banquet were: Mrs. Porter Corrington, Mrs. Robert Srawn, Mrs. Fairchild, Marion Mears, Hazel Prutzman, Gladys Rudolph, Ruby Baxter, Johanna Onken, Gertrude Onken, Irene Irwin, Gertrude Wilson. A breakfast to all the society members was served in the hall Sunday morning.

Phi Nu Literary society held its annual initiation banquet Saturday evening at Colonial Inn. Miss Ruth Harker acted as toastmistress and the Misses Mary Wadsworth, Mary Louise Davis and Virgie Barton responded to toast.

Miss Mildred Mayer led the Y. W. C. A. service Sunday afternoon, the subject being "Christian Rebuilding."

The Wesley Mothers Essay Contest which took place in Music Hall Monday evening was one of the peppest events of the year and one displaying great class spirit. The auditorium was decorated with the Junior and Sophomore colors, red and white predominating on one side and green and white on the other. Songs were sung and yells given on each side, the Freshmen supporting the Juniors, their seniors, the Sophomores, the Sophomores and their subjects were as follows:

"The High Cost of Child Labor"—Hazel Dell.

"Woman in Vacations"—Cora Cherry.

"Making the College Democrite"—Elizabeth Bacon.

"Ibsen, a Master Technician"—Sue Wade.

"The Theory and Practice of Modern Advertising"—Vera Wardner.

"Types, Not a Type"—Ada Clotfelter.

The decision of the judges was made in favor of Miss Ada Clotfelter and Miss Hazel Dell.

Classes on Tuesday and Wednesday.

nesday were rearranged to give more time to the Life Service team representing the Inter-Church World Movement, who spoke at morning chapel and at a special luncheon held at noon on both days. Dr. Victor Thrall and Dr. Arlo A. Brown presented in a rational convincing manner the need for Christian service and then in interviews analyzed the individual cases and suggested definite positions for each student. The response of the students was very marked. The establishment of a permanent life service council provided for the continuance of the work.

At a student meeting Thursday morning nominations were made for May Queen. Those nominated were Ruth Harker, Elizabeth Bathwell, Sue Wade and Esther Hetherlin.

Thursday evening the new members were taken into the Dramatic Club. They were required to present original stunts. These were so clever and entertaining that they furnished a half hour of most genuine amusement for the old members of the Club.

Miss Blanche McCauley was a guest of Miss Frances Wilkinson for a few days. Mrs. Velma Bordner Fouts spent a few days with Miss Mary Louise Davis. Mrs. Harris visited her daughter Miss Helen for several days. Miss Gladys Rudolph is visiting friends at the college. Miss Marion Mears of Fort Wayne, Indiana has been a guest at the college. Mrs. Alma Fairchild spent a few days with Miss Mary Anderson. Miss Hazel Prutzman of Milford has been a guest at the college.

The Home Economics Department is able to offer very interesting and practical work this semester in the courses in House Construction and Interior Decoration and also in Sanitation. A friend of the department who has a couple of houses in the city which need remodeling and redecorating has offered them as practical problems for the class. The students will be given the opportunity of making feasible plans for this work, which will be submitted to the owner. In this way the classes will not only have problems which will be vitally interesting to them, but the owner of the houses will have the advantage of the point of view of those interested in the arrangement of the lamp of his love is thy thru the gloom.

Art gone to the grave—We no longer behold thee. Read the rough path of the fortunate in having this side of the work added to its courses in Home Economics.

I have twenty one high grade horses and mares averaging from 1200 to 1600 pounds, most of mares in foal to good Jacks, for private sale at Murrayville. Alex Story.

EXPECT INFLUX OF AMERICAN VISITORS

French Hotel Keepers Face Problem of Providing Accommodations for Large Number of Expected Tourists.

PARIS — The forthcoming tourist season is expected by France to have considerable effect toward ameliorating the unfavorable condition of French exchange on America. Nevertheless the questions of providing transportation and hotel accommodations here are causing some misgivings and hotel keepers generally are bawling the limited means of bringing visitors to France.

Dal Piaz, director of the Trans-Atlantic Company, has expressed his opinion that the number of Americans desiring to visit France in the coming season will far surpass the transportation facilities, but that this will be relieved by the putting into service of passenger vessels now under construction principally in England before the French hotels have been organized to receive the expected influx of foreign visitors.

The warning that Americans "are terribly exacting" as regards comfort in hotels and as to their management is given by Victor Cambon, an engineer who knows America well. He says: "It is not only the rich who desire refinement in hotels but all Americans."

Mr. Cambon asserts that, outside of Paris and resorts like Vichy, Nice and Deauville, it is impossible to find five good hotels in all France even if towns like Lyons, Marseilles, and Rouen are included. "Americans," he adds, "do not want luxury; all they ask is perfect cleanliness, no greasy smells, comfort and hygiene. Where can you find that among us? Nowhere is there very much of it but everywhere there is one thing, our cooking. That is certainly much but, frankly, it is not enough."

LABOR

After a man devotes eight years to a trade he generally is thoroughly experienced and capable. M. DUFFY, 2251 1/2 E. STATE, has given 22 years to watch repairing and understands every phase of watch work.

Jacksonville Chapter No. 3 R. A. M. will hold a convocation Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. WORK, REFRESHMENTS. Visiting companions welcome. W. P. Spillman, E. H. P. John P. Phillips, Secy.

WE ARE PREPARED TO OUTFIT THE MOST EXACTING, IN COATS, SUITS AND MILLINERY AT J. HERMAN'S.
